

Stamp out Gun Control

The Citizens Committee for the Right to Keep and Bear Arms has...

Why do we want a pro-gun rights postage stamp? Because if we get the Postal Service to issue...

Please write today to William Bolger, U.S. Postmaster General...

You also may be able to use them without your regular postage!

Just imagine how unglued the Postal Monopoly will become every time they catch a letter with only a pro-gun stamp on it!

And closer to eliminating the Postal "Service's" monopoly!

Amendment, our right to keep and bear arms.

At the bottom of this page is an ad for pro-gun stamps which you will be able to use along with your regular postage until we can get the Postal Service to commemorate our rights.

So you can see, this project is well planned and thought out. Our objectives are three-fold:

To reach as many people as possible with our pro-gun rights message through an effective means of communication.

To focus attention on our right to keep and bear arms, and remind Americans that our heritage of firearms freedom is in the national interest.

To achieve the greatest impact on the mass public at the lowest possible cost—so that your purchase through the ad has more clout per dollar.

CCRKBA prefers to take the offensive with a project like this than always be on the defensive because of activities of anti-gun groups like the National Council to Control Handguns or the National Coalition to Ban Handguns...

Every stamp you lick brings us one step closer to licking the anti-gunners.

We might stamp out gun confiscation and for all!!! It's about time we did!!!

If you were to get a rubber stamp made with 15c on it, and a stamp pad with ink color to match the blue of the stamp, heh...heh...Good luck!

WARNING: I understand that recent "real" stamps have a chemical in the ink which permits letters to be sorted and canceled by automated equipment.

Yes! I'll help stamp out gun control. Send me sheets of stamps (50 stamps per sheet) at 25¢ per sheet. I've enclosed $

The pale blue of these stamps may not reproduce well. If it doesn't, you'll just have to order some to see how great they look.

These stamps offer many possibilities. If you use them alone, and if they catch it, they'll "Return to Sender" or to the Dead Letter Office (and maybe the Postal Inspector!)

If they catch it. It's not likely that they will in a large city.

NEWS MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Have you heard about the Hordeak Jones Magazine System? It was the George C. Scott character in the film "Man of Steel"...

As far as picking a name to order in, the most of the rest are somewhere in between.

Report from Arthur Bishop (my favorite movie hero): I got a catalog from Ken Hale Publications...

The Mechanic starring Charles Bronson!

I hadn't heard. Many thanks to one of the Best and the Brightest. If we had a couple of hundred contributors like you...

AND YOU'RE AFRAID OF REVIEWS?

An estimate magazine sent out a renewal offer not long ago to a subscriber who had not renewed.

Dear Mr. Stealor,

It has been cancelled as you instructed.

Thank you.

Dear Sirs,

You've heard all about the electronic stun gun, the Taser.

I thought of making and selling the device but the BATT has declared the Taser to be a firearm and subject to registration, and this is how conveniently I didn't bother with the Taser again, at least until recently.

Last year you re-invented the Taser (at least that's what they call it - mine didn't even have a name, so I'll call it the Taser "A" or "Taser").

I've been that route before.

The cost today of my home-made version would be about $30 (thirty dollars!) using readily available parts from hardware, automotive, and thrift stores.

I invented several other useful devices including a tear gas gun and a pocket flame-thrower.

QUESTIONS FOR BUREAUCRATS...

Dear Editors:

Have your gun picks bite? At many and I have been pranking for some time to write articles on lock picking.

Every gun enthusiast (aren't we all?) you aren't, you should be. I'm, or should be, familiar with Brommell's, Route 2, Box 1, Montezuma, Iowa 50155.

The most effective method I've discovered for heat treating tension wrenches (and all other small springs) appeared in an earlier edition of Brommell's catalog.

Using Your New Toys We'll build up your confidence by starting with the easiest lock of all to pick: the ten wafers Junco (American) padlock.

pick. The key way is so wide and thick that the pick can be made from an old hacksaw blade.

After opening one so easily, it may be hard for you to believe this, but many trucking companies use the Junco padlock often as a key to their trucks.

Anyone who read about the Israelis' raid on Entebbe could not fail to be impressed. Did they carry their own sophisticated Uz1 Submachinegun? No! They used the MAC-NIG with "sound suppressor".

Mr. Phelps Strikes Again!

That's right, Jim Phelps, that lovable, larcenous, lecherous Libertarian and his IM Force are back with another exciting issue filled with fun and games!!!

A much less dishonest kind of chain letter can be produced with the aid of Elmer's Glue-All.

Many paranoids have asked me this. I don't think the government is so stupid that they would prosecute.

There's nothing wrong with stealing from the government. After all, they steal from us. They call it taxes.

DEDICATION

This issue is dedicated to Abbie Hoffman and all our other revolutionaries, wherever they are.

INFO WANTED

We'd like to know all about the chemical (source, price, etc.) which may be used on postage stamps to allow automated sorting and canceling.

Chain Stamps

You've heard of chain letters? If not, ask some older timer. They're a pyramid scheme (illegal) like Social In-Security (legal because the government says so) in which the first players may make a lot of money, but at the expense of later players.

What if you get caught?

Long-term readers will recall my article in #33 about the Universal Product Code used in supermarkets and how to rip it off by gluing low priced codes on high priced items.

The June 1978 Mother Jones featured an article about the experiences of three conspirators who did just that. The checker either believed the foiled computer monitor rather than her own eyes, or didn't care.
